

LEE PARKS

Lee Parks has been racing motorcycles in the United States and abroad since he was 14 years old. He won a WERA National Endurance Championship in 2001 and finished 2nd in the 1994 AMA 125GP Nationals. An accomplished writer, editor, photographer, and riding instructor, Parks is perhaps best known for his editorship of Motorcycle Consumer News. From 1995 to 2000 he took a sabbatical from racing to develop his successful Advanced Riding Clinics, both of which have earned national acclaim. Parks now runs Lee Parks Design, a thriving motorcycle glove manufacturer and consulting practice.

LEE PARKS, Champion, Author, and Trainer (Total Control)

Total Control is the must-have book for sport, touring, and cruiser riders who want to take their riding to the next level in the shortest amount of time without taking unnecessary risks. Written in a clear and understandable style, Parks demystifies the techniques used by top racers and demonstrates how to apply them to high-performance street riding, no matter what kind of bike you ride. For the first time, Parks explains the mental dynamics of fear, one of the single biggest elements hindering the learning of new riding skills. By breaking down riding skills into small, easily learned modules in a building-block format, Total Control is one of the most effective riding tools ever developed.
